

Tuning in to the Depths Below!

December 19-23, 2022

While some might first see the annual return of humpback whales in Hawai'i, others hear it! Dip below the waves during our winter months and listen carefully. The calls and song of these beloved ocean giants can travel thousands of miles through their marine habitat, reaching the ears of animals both near and far. Despite first being recorded over five decades ago and gaining international fame, there are still many unknowns about humpback vocalizations. Come along for a weeklong adventure into the wonderfully intriguing world of humpback whales!
